THE total contribution of Lake Superior ore to the iron trade of the country to the close of last year, produced by fifty-six different corporations, was 17,642,413 tons, having a market value of $138,592,275. The product of 1882 will bring the grand aggregate up to 20,000,000 tons. These ores embrace a wide range of quality and adaption to a great variety of special as well as

A TRAVELER was leaning at night against a railing at the Harper's Ferry railroad station. A locomotive came along, and he sprang lightly over the rail to escape possible danger. He thought it was a meadow on the other side, but knew his mistake when he struck in a muddy stream forty feet below. On being rescued he was asked "I wouldn't tell you for a ollars," he replied; "describe thousand dollars," he replied; me simply as a fool."

The latest revised tables-got up by Drs. Behm and Wagner, German statisticians -set down the population of the world at 1,433,800,000. They publish these tables revised every two or three years. In their last report, two years ago, they gave the population of the globe at 1,455,900,000, rating now a decrease of 22,000,000. But there has been no decrease. The error in the past was an overestimate of the population of China. In the previous tables it was put down at 434,000,000, whereas it is now put at 379,000 000 In those countries in which censuses have been taken the official returns show an aggregate increase of 32,000,000 during the preceding interval of ten years. The number of people inhabiting the larger divisions of the globe, as given by Behm and Wagner, are as follows: Europe, 327;743,000; Asia, 795,591,000; Africa, 205,823,000; America, 100,415,000: Australia and Polynesia, 4,232,

B. Caldwell, of the law firm of Caldwell & Caldwell, of this city, for one of the two judges of this circuit. This is conceded to be an excellent nomination. As a lawyer, Mr. Caldwell has been known for his ability and energy, and as a citizen he has always been known for his high personal character. He is a well educated man and a highly trained lawyer, and enjoys a large practice at the bar. The dispatch of business is one of the strong features of his character, and he will carry this character; and he will carry this character; and he will carry this characteristic on to the bench, where he will clear the calendar as fast as it is in the power of a judge to do it. Real listate Revaluation.

We have shown that the present revaluation of real estate in this State is likely to amount to 33 per cent or $35,000,000. have also shown that the necessity for it arises largely from the advent of the Democracy to power in the State. They came in on a cry of retrenchment and reform, and straightway proceeded to call a constitutional convention, the holding of which and the result of which have cost this State an untold sum of money. We probably do not put the cost too high ily have also been greatly benefited by it." probably do not put the cost too high when we place it all told up to this time at a quarter of a million of dollars. And as Daniel Webster asked on a certain memorial occasion, "What is all this worth? Judge James Ferguson, the most distin guished Democratic lawyer and legislator in West Virginia, and by many declared to be the brainiest man in the State, declares that the only result has been to give us the worst constitution of any State in the Union. This he declared publicly after having, as he said, examined and compared the Constitutions of thirty different States of the Union. .

This is what Bourbonism and Bourbon incapacity has cost the tax-payers of West

Inside of ten years they have ordered two revaluations of real estate-a proceeding, so far as we are informed, unprecedented in the experience of other States.

The apology for this proceeding is that real estate in West Virginia is valued too low and needs revaluation. We suppose so. Real estate is understood to change in value somewhat every year or two. In good times it is supposed to gradually tend upwards. We have had several years of good times, and real estate has been gradually rising. Why not revalue it two years hence? Once in ten years, however, is supposed to be often enough to revalue it. And it would have been enough in West Virginia but for the immense expenditures entailed upon the people of this State by the attempt to remand us as far as possible to the old Virginia regime, so dear to the hearts of the pro-slavery Bou bons before the war.

They added $12,174,000 to the valuation of real estate in 1875, and now they propos to add $35,000,000 more. It is no ar to this addition to the public burdens to say that it does not fall on every tax paye in every county alike. It adds, for in-stance, an average of $30 to every farmer in Marshall county who pays $100. It will add, of course, more on some than on others. And this may readily be one of the great hardships of the re-valuation. Through the partiality or incomptency of the assessor he may do great injustice to one or an other farm. But the average in the county shows an average of $36 added to every $100 real estate tax payer. It exacts, for instance, from Marshallcounty real estate wners $3,750 more than they have paid heretofore for Stafe purposes alone, and two to three times that for county and local purposes. It may, and doubtless will, add $50, or $75 or $100 to some $100 taxpayers, but the average will be, as we state it, $36 to every $100 real estate tax payer in the county. In Ritchie county the average for the county will be $50 to very $100 real estate tax payer. This will be saddled on him for years to come-$50 added to every $100-as a perpetual me mento of the luxury of a new Constitution and the expenditures necessitated in the attempts of the Bourbons to harmonize with the actual wants of the people and the spirit of modern times. Now this re-valuation may not represen more than the selling price of the land. And yet to a farmer whose land is not for sale, what consolation is there in that Farmers do not hold their land for selling purposes, but for agricultural purposes, and ecause an assessor may choose to call it worth $50 instead of $25, and add $6 to 50 per cent to its taxable expenses on that basis, it is worth no more for the purpose of the farmer. He is damaged, not bene fitted, by the putting up of the price of his land. He can raise no more wheat or corn year by year in consequence of raising th price of his land,

If this re-valuation represented some so of tangible value to the farmer in the way of a great public improvement, he could feel reconciled, but when it represents so largely a useless and more than useless exadoption of the worst constitution in the the United States, the case is very differ ent. To him it is "money thrown into the sen," and of no benefit to him, his neighbors or the public at large. He is not only paying for a dead horse, but for one that has become a stench in his nostrils.

Filled with rapture over immediate relief, the sufferer ver after refers to St. Jacobs Oil, the Great German Remedy, as the most surprisingly efficacious of all remedial agents. We recently observed in a New Jersey exchange the following item in support of the above: Mr. Isaac Correy, Manager Salem (N. J.)
